

FORMER COUNCILMAN B. C. CUVELLIER

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

SEEKS ELEVENTH STORY TO

END HIS LIFE

Shoots Himself

Union Savings Bank -- Ner-

tion is Said to be the Cause.

Choosing the roof of the highest building in Oakland as the scene of his final act in life, B. C. Cuvellier, former City Councilman, went to the top of the Union Savings Bank Building this morning and sent a bullet crashing through his brain.

Illness, aggravated by grief over the recent death of his wife, is supposed to have been the cause of the suicide.

RIDES WITH THEM.
Mr. Cuvellier went to the bank building at Thirteenth street and Broadway a few minutes before 11 o'clock this morning and rode in the elevator to the eleventh story. In the elevator with him were Attorney Ben F. Griffins, Abe P. Leach and two strangers. Arriving at the eleventh story he asked the way to the roof and Attorney Griffins showed him the way to the staircases.

BODY IS FOUND.
Shortly before noon a man, woman and little girl went to the roof. They had no sooner reached the roof than they rushed back and told John Bernhard, the elevator boy, that a man had shot himself on the platform of the roof.

One glance satisfied Bernhard that a suicide had been committed and he hurriedly notified Policeman James Mulgrew who, in turn, sent word to the Coroner's office.

ON PLATFORM.
Deputy Coroner Van Vliet was soon upon the scene. He found the body of the former Councilman lying on the "observation platform" that has been erected for sightseers.

The body lay on the left side and a few inches from the right hand was a 38 calibre Smith & Wesson revolver. The desperate man had placed the barrel of the pistol in his mouth, pulled the trigger and sent his soul into eternity.

NO MESSAGES.
He did not leave a farewell letter and it is only a matter of conjecture why he wished to end his earthly career.

A letter which was found in the dead man's pocket after the body had been removed to the Morgue proves that Cuvellier had recently been treated at the Adventist Sanitarium at St. Helena. The letter reads:

PRAYS FOR HIM.
"ST. HELENA, May 1, 1905.
"My Dear Friend: Your very welcome and anxiously awaited letter just received and I hasten to answer at once, that you may receive by first mail.
"Mr. Cuvellier, I cannot explain on paper the sorrow it gives me to learn of your present condition.
"As I read the first few lines of your letter, in which you state that you felt fine, I felt very good, but the end of your letter makes me feel very, very sad.

B. C. CUVELLIER, BRILLIANT POLITICIAN, ELOQUENT ORATOR AND BUSINESS MAN, WHO TOOK HIS LIFE.

"I have done as you requested me by remembering you in my prayers and tonight I have prayed for you, hoping and trusting that our kind Heavenly Father will see fit to answer by comforting and sustaining you.

"But, Friend Cuvellier, you should not (and I trust, do not) neglect to pray yourself, for God will answer the prayer that is sincere. We are all sinners, and come very short, but please read John 3:16—'God so loved the world that He gave His son, that if we trust Him we may be saved.'
HAVE COURAGE.
"Now, my friend, just be of good courage and trust in the Lord, press onward and upward in the straight and narrow way that leads to eternal life. Do not be discouraged. Cheer up! Cheer up!

"How pleased I would be to be able to be of some service to you and hope you may some time come up and see us.
"But I hope your condition will improve so that it will not be necessary for you to return for treatment. Now just keep up courage, do not give up the ship. While there is life there is said to be hope, so hope, hope, hope!
"I have written hurriedly, but if you will write again soon telling me of your improved condition I will tell you any news. Mr. Cohen and Mr. Friers are still here. God bless you, dear friend and guide you and keep you from harm in the prayer of your sincere friend,
"GEORGE R. CLOSE."
BEEN TREATED.
Mr. Cuvellier had recently been treated in this city by Dr. J. F. Rinehart and a receipt for $10 paid to that physician on account was found in the pockets.

In the pockets also were several cards of A. Vignier & Co., wine importers, of which firm the dead man was vice-president. The headquarters of the firm is at 429-431 Battery street, San Francisco.

There were also a card of Oakland Lodge, No. 171, B. P. O. E.; a commutation ticket, which showed that Cuvellier had not been in San Francisco since May 3rd; several note books, in one of which were sundry addresses and five two-cent postage stamps and some small change.
The weapon with which the suicide was committed was an old style Smith & Wesson weapon of 32 calibre and had evidently seen considerable service.
LAST TO SEE HIM.
B. F. Griffins, the attorney, was probably the last one to see Mr. Cuvellier alive.
"Shortly before 11 o'clock this morning I entered an elevator to go to my office on the eleventh floor," said Griffins. "In the cage with me were Ross Bromley, Abe Leach and one or two others whom I did not know. Just before we started the ascent, Cuvellier entered the elevator. He seemed pre-occupied, as if he was thinking deeply about something.
"He nodded to the others in the elevator and spoke to me in an absent-minded manner. When we reached the eleventh story, he turned to me and remarked:
"FINE BUILDING."
"This is a fine building, isn't it?"
"I replied that it was and he asked how to reach the roof. I caught him by the shoulder and directed him around the corner. I noticed nothing unusual about him, save that he appeared pre-occupied."
Among those who rushed to the roof when it was learned that a suicide had been committed were Griffins, Abe P. Leach, George W. Reed and others. They quickly identified the dead man.
"I remember taking Mr. Cuvellier to the top floor," said John Bernhard, the elevator operator, "but I noticed nothing peculiar about him. I did not know who he was. About half an hour afterward, a man, woman and lit-

Oyama is Now Pressing General Linevitch.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 8.—Interest is once more directed to Manchuria, the news from that point indicating that Field Marshal Oyama is pressing General Linevitch's advance posts east and west of the railroad with considerable force, as if about to undertake a general offensive movement. The Russians are offering slight resistance and falling back upon their first line of defense.

The Russian advance post covers a front of about one hundred miles extending from Singtman'su, on the Liao river, in a southeasterly direction across the railroad above Shangtu to the Mandarin road, leading to Kirin, to Kamalpass, about seventy miles due east of the pass. The Russian cavalry protect both wings, small bodies being probably beyond the Liao river in Mongolia to guard against a surprise turning movement in that direction. Experts, however, believe that Oyama's purpose is to thrust in from the east, turn Kirin and interpose himself between Harbin and Vladivostok preparatory to the investment of the latter place.

Linevitch's disposition seems especially taken to meet such a plan. He would not give battle along his present line, but would gradually retire and draw in his forces as Oyama's strategy develops to the main Russian positions, which extended due east and west from Kirin through Kuanchangsu to Huaitathien. A considerable force of troops also is reported to be due east of Kirin as far south as the Tumen river to contest the Japanese advance northeastward toward Vladivostok. It is not regarded as certain that the Japanese advance will be really serious.

RECEIVES NEW TROOPS.
Oyama is said to have received large reinforcements, which have filled up the Japanese ranks and he brought up immense quantities of supplies and ammunition after the battle of Mukden both by way of Sinmintin and over the reconstructed Manchurian railroad. But at the war office here there is a difference of opinion as to whether Oyama is yet ready and it is added that if he is in earnest probably almost all of a fortnight will elapse before the issue is decided, the preliminaries of each of the battles of the present war, in view of the fact that the armies cover such a large area, having always been long and tedious. Up to yesterday the Russian advance posts generally had retired about eighteen miles, if

KILLS TWO

Negro in Chicago Stabs Brother in Fight.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Today, the thirty-first day of the teamsters' strike, found both sides prepared for even more intense struggling during the week to come, in which President Roosevelt is to visit Chicago.

The commission, composed of Professor Graham Taylor, Townner K. Webster and William C. Boyden, appointed by Mayor Dunne to investigate charges of graft and blackmail on the part of union leaders and of efforts to foment trouble on the part of the employers, has details and plans for beginning the inquiry.

The merchants have made plans for more strenuous efforts to bring the recalcitrant team owners into line and the Federation of Labor on the other hand resolved to seek the indictment of the officials of the Employers' Association in Chicago for this effort, calling it conspiracy.

The strike commission, which was to begin work this afternoon, from all appearances will have no holiday task. The union leaders declare they will submit volumes of testimony bearing on the charges that the employers have fostered the war by aiming to extend the strike through a score of trades. On the other hand, the employers are not enthusiastic over the project, seeing no good that is likely to come out of it, though Chairman Taylor was assured the merchants would do nothing to block the inquiry.

Two brothers, John and Richard Fruen, were fatally injured today in a street fight with a colored man. Both of the men were stabbed in the abdomen. Their assailant, whose identity is not known, escaped. The police believe he is a stranger in Chicago, and are working on the theory that he may be a "strike-breaker."

Attempts were made today by the employers to resume business on a scale as near as possible to that before the teamsters' strike. This was especially the case at all the barns used by the department stores.
Little trouble was reported at any of the Employers' Company barns. Unlike the corresponding time last week, few persons were about the stables. Even the Peabody Coal Company, against which there has been a special fight, sent out today caravans of loaded coal wagons without molestation. Police and deputy sheriffs, however, continued to guard all or nearly all vehicles driven by non-union teamsters.

IS ADMITTED TO BAIL.
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 8.—Judge James Hargis, whose trial for the murder of James Cockrill resulted in a hung jury here last week, was granted bail today in the sum of $25,000.

OAKLAND MAN CRUSHED TO

House He Was Moving Settles on Him and Breaks Neck and Back.

HAYWARDS, May 8.—Joseph McCrea, a house-mover, residing in Oakland on Linden street near Twenty-fourth, met a horrible death today by being crushed underneath a house he was moving from Castro to B street. After moving the building some distance the unfortunate man crawled under the structure to remove some timbers. When directly under the center of the building, the house, without any apparent cause, settled down more than a foot. One scantling broke McCrea's neck, another broke his back and his legs. He leaves a wife and five children.

SAY ATTORNEY COLLINS

IS A BIGAMIST.

Brings Wife From Chicago But Another Woman Claims Him as Husband.

I the undersigned do hereby certify that on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1889 in the church of ST. JOHN the BAPTIST I joined in the HOLY BONDS OF MATRIMONY, Mr. GEORGE D. COLLINS and Miss CHARLOTTA E. NEWMAN according to the rites of the Holy Roman Catholic Church.
M. D. CONNOLLY, Rector.

MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE ISSUED TO GEORGE D. COLLINS AND CHARLOTTA E. NEWMAN. THIS DOCUMENT IS THE WORDING OF THE CERTIFICATE WHICH CHARLOTTA E. NEWMAN SAYS MAKES COLLINS A BIGAMIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—On Tuesday last, George D. Collins, the well-known attorney of San Francisco on his return from the East, wrote the following in the register of the Palace Hotel:
"George D. Collins and wife." On the next line below, in Mr. Collins' handwriting, were the words, "Mrs. S. A. McCurdy." It is known, the "wife" referred to by Collins, in this instance, is a daughter of Mrs. McCurdy, and was known as Miss Clarice McCurdy, who, with her mother, resided in Stockton.

In the view of the fact that there is a woman at 2513 Pierce street, San Francisco, Mrs. Charlotta E. Collins, who before her marriage was Miss Charlotta E. Newman, who claims to be the wife of Collins and to have been married to him for sixteen years, but who was not with him when Collins registered at the Palace Hotel, the registration in question has caused surprise among the friends of Collins and prostrated the woman on Pierce street who claims to be the attorney's first, legal and only wife.

COLLINS' VAGARIES
At various times, since registering the names quoted, Collins, when asked as to whether he had married another woman, has declared that the writing of the names in question was simply the joke of a friend and that he had not married Miss McCurdy. He has, it is alleged, requested the brother of his wife on Pierce street to say nothing about the marriage and still he has come out boldly and asserted that he was never married to Miss Charlotta E. Newman, and that his only wife is the woman who is now living with him as such and who was formerly Miss Clarice McCurdy.

MANY WITNESSES
This, denial and avowal, both of which are inconsistent, appear all the more remarkable when witnesses claim to have been present in St. John's Church in San Francisco when Collins was married to Miss Charlotta Newman by Rev. Father Connolly, pastor of that church, May 15, 1889.

The claim is substantiated by the certificate of marriage which is issued by Father Connolly, which is in the possession of the first Mrs. Collins and her brother.

Among these witnesses is a sister and brother of Mrs. Charlotta E. Collins, as also Thomas E. Curran, an attorney of San Francisco, who was best man for Collins when he married Miss Charlotta E. Newman in the Church of St. John.

Collins, at different times, has given still another version of the mystery, viz., that on that day in May, 1889, he was married, but his bride was Agnes Newman and not Charlotta Newman, but her sister, and that Agnes died four years ago. He avers that a mistake was made in the writing of the names in the marriage license and in the certificate of marriage.

This version is controverted by the story of Curran and a brother of the Newman girls, who declare that they know that Collins was not married to Agnes but to Charlotta Newman, who is still living and still his wife.
To Mrs. Collins, her brother, Curran and others, the George D. Collins appears only as a bigamist and they say they will bring his case before the Grand Jury for settlement.

COLLINS' STORY
Collins made the following statement in the presence of the woman who, he says, is his wife and who was formerly known as Miss Clarice McCurdy.
"Permit me to introduce you to my wife, and the only wife I have."
Collins then denied that Mrs. Charlotta E. Collins had any claim on him as her husband.

"It is not my intention," said Collins, "to answer in detail all the published gossip concerning me. Suffice it to say that on the 23d of last month in Chicago I was married to Miss Clarice McCurdy of Stockton, who is sitting there. To no other living woman was I ever married. Upon the death of my first wife, whose maiden name was Agnes M. Newman, I gave into the care of her sister, Charlotta E. Newman, my three children.

NOT HIS WIFE.
"Charlotta Newman is not my wife, she never was my wife and is not the mother of either one of my three children. All this gossip about the dead woman being my sister-in-law and the living Miss Newman my wife is not true. That was all threshed out in the disbarment proceedings. I do not propose to go over it all again. Ordinarily I would pay no attention to this little-tattle, but it is due my wife here that there should be no question as to her standing. For that reason I desire it published that the young woman who was recently Miss Clarice McCurdy is the only Mrs. George D. Collins, my wife.

PREJUDICE IN STORIES.
"In my opinion, these stories are set afloat at the instigation of the Tobins for the purpose of annoying me. In some way I am going to bring the matter into court so as to settle for once and all these false statements. I don't know just exactly how I am going to go about it. There is no use of suing the Newmans. They haven't anything to sue for. But in some legal way I propose to establish the truth."
"Where in Chicago was the ceremony performed?" was asked.
"In the Presbyterian Church, corner of Indiana and Twenty-first streets, by the Rev. Mr. Morrison," said Mrs. Collins.

STORY OF BROTHER NEWMAN.
William Newman, brother of wife No. 1, tells the following tale:
"My sister Charlotta is the wife of George D. Collins. They were married May 15, 1889, in St. John's Church, this city, by Father M. D. Connolly, who is now in the East. I have the certificate of their marriage. It is now in safe deposit. I will produce it, together with other records when I go to Foreman Andrews of the Grand Jury tomorrow morning. I was among those present at the wedding. I remember the occasion as though it were but yesterday.

COLLINS WANTED SILENCE.

COLLIDE IN MID OCEAN

Strange Sea Disaster in Which One Life is Lost.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., May 8.—With the arrival here today of the tug Patience came news of one of the most remarkable marine disasters in the history of Vineyard Sound shipping. The Joy Line steamer Aransas bound from Boston for New York was struck by the coast laden barge Glendower in 17 fathoms off the Vineyard Sound light, and sank in less than fifteen minutes, but out of forty-seven passengers and a crew of twenty-nine on the steamer most of whom were asleep at the time of the collision only one life was lost. Miss Agnes Kelly, twenty-seven years of age, residence unknown, was missing when the tug Patience arrived here today, the thick fog which prevailed necessitating search for the steamer. The Aransas, Captain John J. O'Connell, left Boston Saturday afternoon and was well across the bay before she ran into the tug.

The steamer Aransas came from Cape Cod and proceeded slowly down the bay. She was about midnight on Saturday when the steamer began to thread her way cautiously across the treacherous Nantucket shoals. At 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning when about a mile and a half from the Vineyard Sound light, the Aransas was struck by the Glendower barge. The Aransas was struck on the starboard side opposite the engines, tearing open a great hole through which the sea poured like a cataract. The barge was not injured. The engine and the rooms of the Aransas were flooded and some of the passengers barely escaped being caught by the torrent of water. It was seen that the steamer was sinking and orders to lower the boats were given. Most of the passengers and crew were in their boats at the time of the collision, but all were awakened by the crash. They dressed hastily and rushed upon deck. Although there was great excitement there was no panic and the discipline of the crew was excellent, every man taking his appointed station.

Few of the passengers saved anything except their clothing and small handbags. As soon as the Aransas had disappeared beneath the waves, the tug Patience with the survivors on board put out and headed for this port. Some of the passengers who were rescued and others in Boston and New York. The Aransas had a full cargo of general merchandise most of which is undamaged and insured.

Among the passengers on board the Aransas was Percy Keating of San Francisco. The officers of the tug Patience disclaim any responsibility for the collision. They say that the Glendower was the stern barge of a tow of three. The barge was lit and were proceeding slowly on account of a fair according to the officers. Preparations were being made by the tug to anchor the tow and await clearing of the tug. The tug was near the Vineyard Sound light when the Aransas came along in the mist and struck the tug. The tug was struck on the starboard side making a hole in the hull which the water poured in with such force that the tug sank within fifteen minutes.

PLAN SEA AND LAND BATTLE

Oyma's offensive is pressed home a climax should be reached at about the time the sea fight between Admirals Rojostrovsky and Togo is expected. General Linvitch's headquarters are at Gunshu pass.

MAKE NIGHT VISITS.

ANJOY, May 8.—Shipping reports brought by vessels trading between this port and Hongkong show that Japanese vessels visit Anjo in the night time, undoubtedly maintaining communication between this place and Formosa.

A line of Japanese scouts is reported here, around the south end of Formosa, into the Pacific ocean and around the north end of the island, opposite Tam-Sui.

The censorship of messages from Formosa continues.

WILL GIVE CIVIL RULE.

TOKIO, May 8.—The Japanese government is maturing plans to convert the military government of Manchuria into a civil government. A civil police is expected.

General Kamio will be the administrator of the Liaoting peninsula, but the administrators of Manchuria have not yet been selected.

Taxes sufficient to pay the administration will be imposed.

RAILROAD PROFITS.

TOKIO, May 8.—The profits of the government railroads for the fiscal year amount to 11,500,000 yen (about $5,575,000), exceeding the estimates by about 2,000,000 yen (about $1,000,000).

SIGHT FLEETS.

SAIGON, French Cochinchina, May 8.—The Russian hospital ship Kos- troma arrived here today, which indicates the approach of the fourth division of the Russian Pacific squadron commanded by Vice-Admiral Nebogatoff. Sixteen French laden steamers are off Cape James near here. The main Russian squadron is said to be off the coast of Annam.

NEBOGATOFF OFF SAIGON.

HONGKONG, May 8.—A special dispatch from Saigon, Cochinchina, reports that Rear Admiral Nebogatoff's division has appeared off Saigon. A Russian cruiser was off Honkobe bay, a short distance north of Kamranh bay, May 5, when the British steamer Charterhouse, which arrived here today, passed that point. The latter also noticed a collier leaving the bay and steaming east, but the main Russian squadron was not seen. The British steamer Angola from Mururin, Japan, was stopped by a Japanese cruiser in the Straits of Korea. After being questioned about her cargo and destination she was allowed to proceed.

SAYS ATTORNEY COLLINS IS A BIGAMIST.

trouble was last Friday. My sister Charlotte told me that she had talked with Collins about it. He told her to tell me to say nothing about the affair, and above all to talk with no reporters. He said if I opened my mouth he would not give me a cent of my money, referring to money which he owes me. I went directly to the hotel and examined the register. I recognized his handwriting. Then I went to his office. Collins told me that the whole thing was a joke put up by some of his friends.

AGNES NEVER MARRIED.

"My sister Agnes was never married, much less being the wife of Collins. The first time I ever knew of his connecting his name with her as his wife was the day following her death four years ago. He had a case in court and had it postponed, telling the judge that his wife had just died.

"I have quit work to see that my sister gets justice in this case.

"It is true I had some trouble with Collins at the time of Agnes' death over $1600 that I had saved and given into her custody. He drew that money from the bank by asserting that she had been his wife. At the time of the disbarment proceedings I brought this matter up, but could not prove it to the satisfaction of the court.

"When Agnes died Collins let her body lie at the house two days, right up to the day of her burial, without letting her parents know of her demise. They were very angry over it."

FIRST WIFE PROSTRATED.

Mrs. Charlotte E. Collins is prostrated over the stand taken by her husband, the bigamous relations he has assumed, the blight he has placed upon her name and children. She has lived with Collins sixteen years, and is the mother of his three children, George D. Collins, 15 years of age; Consuelo Collins, 12 years old, and Mary Collins, 7 years old. Speaking on the subject she said:

"I am indeed George D. Collins' wife and I cannot see why he should deny me," she said. "Agnes died a single woman.

"I never knew of my husband being intimated with any other woman and cannot believe he has forsaken me for another," she said. "He spent both Tuesday and Friday nights with me after his return from Chicago. He told me he occasionally went to the theater with women, but that they were his clients. I expect him to come home to me after this thing is over.

"My reason for not making a statement of the truth at the time of the disbarment proceedings, when Mr. Collins claimed Agnes had been his wife, was that my son begged me not to, saying it would bring disgrace and dishonor to his father and take away his means of earning a livelihood. Now that he has married another woman I do not feel that I should protect him."

Mrs. Collins is willing to prosecute her husband, in case he is guilty, but she still has a lingering hope that he was not really married in Chicago. She will prosecute him for bigamy if he was. Her marriage to Collins took place in St. John's Church, she says, Rev. Father Connolly officiating.

CURRAN, BEST MAN.

"Attorney Curran, a long-time friend of Collins, recalls the nuptials as follows:

"I remember the occasion very well," said Attorney Curran, "and well I might for Collins and I were school chums and men who have gone to school together and witness each other's marriages do not often forget these events. Collins was married to Miss Charlotte E. Newman some time in May, 1939. I cannot recall the exact date, for it is a long time ago. The ceremony took place in a little Catholic church on Eddy street, the name of which, I think, was St. John's, and Father Connolly officiated."

the girl went to the roof. After they had left the elevator I started to descend, but had gone only a few stories when there was a violent ringing of the bell from the eleventh story. I returned and found the trio very much excited. They said there was a dead man on the roof. I was so excited that I failed to take their names. I went to the roof, saw that they were right and then hastened to summon Dr. Curdts and Policeman Mulgrew. Dr. Curdts pronounced the man dead, although the blood was still oozing from the mouth.

AT HIS HOME.

At the Cuvellier home, 1223 Union street, a grief-stricken group, comprising his five children, sat moaning. The bankruptcy tragedy has thrown Mr. Cuvellier's family into a state of utter anguish. They cannot discuss the awful incidents. Bereft of both parents the Cuvellier children at present can only comprehend that a dark cloud of woe has unexpectedly enveloped them.

HAD BEEN ILL.

"Mr. Cuvellier had been ill for several months," said the family housekeeper this afternoon. "His condition produced nervous prostration and he became despondent. See Dr. Rinehart who was his physician and he may explain more fully. I have told all that I know of Mr. Cuvellier's condition."

P. W. Bellingall, one of Mr. Cuvellier's intimate, old-time friends, was disconsolate when told of the suicide. Said he:

THINKS OF CHILDREN.

"It was only Friday last that Charley said to me, 'Pete, you've always been my friend; if anything happens to me, look out for my children.'"

"I thought he meant that, being in poor health, he believed he might die suddenly. But I never dreamed of his taking his own life. They told me at Vignier's today that Cuvellier had declared his intention of shooting himself, so I suppose it was premeditated."

PLANNED A VISIT.

That Mr. Cuvellier intended soon to visit Santa Cruz with his daughter-in-law was shown by two Southern Pacific railroad passes found in the dead man's street, said last night:

"I have been the family physician at the Collins home for years. The lady whom I have always supposed was Mrs. Collins was not the one who died several years ago, because I have seen her many times since. I never knew her first name, but always presumed she was the wife. I attended her about seven years ago, when the little daughter May was born."

NEW WIFE CONFIDENT.

The young bride told of her marriage with Collins on April 23, and how she was surprised when the San Francisco situation was made known.

"Of course, Mr. Collins told me he had been married some years ago," she said, "and that his wife was dead."

She knew that he had three children, but did not expect to have them removed from the custody of the person who now has them in charge. She was unaware of the notoriety that was his at the time disbarment proceedings were filed against him last year.

MRS. McCURDY HAS FAITH.

Mrs. S. A. McCurdy, mother of the young Mrs. Collins, said that she was present when the marriage was solemnized in Chicago. "My daughter was lawfully and legally married to Mr. Collins, and I am sure there must be some mistake about him having a wife living here in San Francisco," she said. "I saw that marriage performed and will not believe that he has deceived me."

COLLINS SAFE FROM JURY.

Judge Lawlor today stated that Collins could not be proceeded against in this State, and that the Grand Jury had no jurisdiction in the matter. Collins was married in Chicago. If there was an offense committed it was committed in Chicago and must be punished there.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening to receive bids for leasing the foundation of the Grant school and for finishing the work on the Franklin school.

Bids will also be opened for the sale of house on property recently acquired by the board for new school house sites.

HEIRS EFFECT A COMPROMISE.

The heirs of the estate of the late Jose Melville have compromised their differences and the estate will be divided between his four sisters and his son, the latter to take a half and the son a half. Young Melville was practically disinherited by his father, who left his entire estate amounting to about $50,000 in trust to J. H. Jellet who was to pay his widow the income of the estate and after her death the income should go to his four sisters, Elizabeth, Marie, Martha and Sarah during the lifetime of his son who should be given such amount as Jellet thought was proper for him to have.

Young Jellet got his mother to contest the will, and charges were made against Jellet that he would not let the boy have sufficient money to buy a few suits of clothes to go to his mother's funeral in. Before the contest was finished, however, the mother died, and according to the will they are entitled to the income as long as young Melville lives excepting such amounts as may be deemed necessary for his needs by Jellet. Rather than have continued law suits however according to a petition of Jellet for annulment of the will filed in Judge O'Brien's court, the heirs have agreed to compromise their differences and the four sisters have agreed to allow the young man to get half of the estate and they take half in lieu of the income to which they are entitled under the will with the provision that they can have the whole amount at the death of the young man. An order was made by Judge O'Brien this morning distributing the estate of Jose Melville to Jellet who has rendered his final accounting and showing that he has collected and spent $2,812.28 from the estate and spent $3,209.49 including $1,145.24 as his commissions leaving a balance of $5,543.79 still on hand.

NO POLYGAMY IN MAYBRICK CASE HAWAII IN COURT

FEDERAL GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT—POSTOFFICES NEED MORE AUDITING.

MOTHER OF FAMOUS WOMAN BEGINS SUITS FOR LANDS.

HONOLULU, May 2, via San Francisco, May 6.—The Federal Grand Jury, which has been investigating among other matters, a report that polygamy was practiced here in the Mormon colony, has made its final report to Judge Dole. The report says that there is no evidence that polygamy was ever practiced in the Hawaiian Islands.

Regarding the heavy postoffice default in the office at Koloa, Kauai, the jury stated that it showed a need of a more effective and prompt audit system and more inspectors, the Koloa office, in which the shortage amounted to $27,000, not having been inspected for about two years prior to the time when the shortage was found.

The planters association has announced a raise in the wages of Japanese plantation laborers, taking effect May 1. AFFECTS MARKET.

LONDON, May 8.—Vague fears of possible complications over French neutrality in the Far East affected the tone at the opening of the Stock Exchange today. The markets were inclined to sag. Paris, however, showed an inclination to buy its favorites rather than sell, indicating a belief that the neutrality question will be amicably arranged. The uncertainty concerning the American market and the possibility of international difficulties over an American speculative account tended to increase the feeling of nervousness.

Proclamation of Freedom

outlaws and set up a union where good workmanship was the test, and the men first of all had a bar, and even higher prices than common, with their contracts made legally responsible, and if it became known that when a buyer of labor didn't care to purchase, this union would peacefully offer its labor elsewhere, but not go along with the lawless bar-baiting and lawbreakers, they would then command the admiration and respect of the entire community, for people like to see workmen prosperous. Observe the high position in the mind of the public that the Locomotive Engineers have won for themselves by just this plan of procedure.

Many and many a high-grade man is an unwilling associate and member of the anarchy-tainted unions, and he seeks freedom somehow, somewhere.

It is no insult to tell a man he is in a place that stinks, he may know and deplore it, but if he defends the stinking place he insults himself.

CRIMINAL BRAND

So when you hear a Union man denounce those who point out the crimes of the Unions and seek to purify them, you may know to a certainty that he squirms when the sunlight of public licity is turned upon him. Among this class will be found the majority of labor trust editors.

We should demand of our public officials that they proceed as they did in the beef trust and give the people protection from this labor trust that is more than a dozen times more than a dozen meat or oil trusts.

What is a cent or two on a gallon of oil as compared with the hundreded of thousands of decent bread-earners who are reduced to starvation and the hundreds of millions of dollars in business lost to the people by the withdrawal of capital from industry.

REFUSE TO BUILD

It is a common remark nowadays that no one but a fool will start a new building or a new industry and sub ject himself to the tremendous losses and times and worry from the labor unions.

The proposed building operators and new industries that have been amount in dollars and cents, lost to our work people, more than would keep an army in meat and oil for a lifetime.

- Citizens, high and low, you must rise in your might and free yourselves from the worst of all trusts, the startling menace to human liberty.

It is before you and its injuries are felt by every man but the few easy-living leaders who have by organization of the 15 per cent of workmen, threatened the complete domination of the 85 per cent of unorganized workers.

This country has already been injured hundreds of millions of dollars and its people subjected to countless scores of indignities by the labor trust.

ACT have conspiracy and trust laws. Write President Roosevelt urging that he direct the proper government officers to do their duty with this monstrous all trusts, then don't forget your own duty towards the boycott of the labor label and to organize your town for protection.

Read this article over again carefully and Act.

C. W. POST.

N. B. You ask what motive inspired me to pay about $20,000.00 to print this "Damnation of freedom" in the various papers in the United States and to bring down on me hundreds of months of coarse, villifying, abusive letterflood from labor union thugs and managers. Kind letters from lawabiding members of the Postum factories.

The officials of the Labor Commissioner's office of Michigan say I print the highest wages in the State for my work. But I will not bow to the common opera kings and potentates of the labor union or allow them to "unionize" the Postum factories. Thereofore, they boycott "Postum" and "Grappone Nuts."

I was trained to run my business and they are not that type of person to interest me in a study of the fearful conditions that confront our country today.

me money enough to spend in the talks through the papers in trying to make better and safer conditions for the common people, whether the Post office or the Post office.

Scores of letters have come to me from work people and others, some from union men, recounting their sufferings from union domination, and begging that their cases be laid before the public.

It will not answer for us to only sympathize with the poor, the oppressed, the weak, the victimized, but we must drive off tyrants and rescue the oppressed, we must help them in the hands of the oppressors. Americans must act.

Let me tell my forebears in New England left comfortable homes, look down them the old, dim locks, slept on the ground in rain and frost; hung their footsore, and laid clothed, they grimed and shivered in the cold, and the human Liberty urged them. They wove me and for you a mantle of freedom, woven in a loom where the shuttles were cannon balls and bullets, and the threads were the lives of the men, the women in the yards.

These old, sturdy granddads of olden stood by that loom until the market was finished, then, stained with life life blood, it was handed down to us
Shall I refuse to bear it on my shoulders because the wearing costs me a few few dollars, and are you cowards enough to hide yours because some foreign labor union anarchist orders you to strip it off?

I have faith that the blood of 17
still coursing in your veins will ting and call until you awaken. Then Ameri icans will Act.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

W. E. DARGIE, President

Business Office and Publishing House, 413-417 Eighth Street, Oakland.

The Revenue Problem.

For the first ten months of the present fiscal year the Treasury balances show a deficit of over $33,000,000. That is, the expenditures have exceeded the revenues by that amount. There is still a surplus above liabilities in the Treasury, however.

It is evident that the Government must either increase its revenues, decrease its expenses or borrow money to defray the cost of administration. Expenses cannot be materially decreased for some time to come because the appropriations for the next two years were made at the short session of the last Congress. The failure of the revenue to equal expenditures is mainly to be ascribed to the unusual demands on the Treasury on account of the Panama Canal and irrigation projects. However, the deficit exists and the Treasury receipts show no sign of closing the gap between income and outgo.

There are two ways of increasing the revenue—by laying heavier taxes on beer, spirits, tobacco and cigars or by amending the tariff so as to encourage the import of dutiable goods. We made the Cubans a present of several millions a year when the reciprocity treaty with the island republic was ratified, and an increased tax on sugar will afford no relief from the Treasury stringency because the bulk of the foreign sugar imported into the United States comes from Cuba.

A tax on tea and coffee will yield considerable revenue and provoke an universal howl. The brewing and distilling interests will strenuously oppose the imposition of any higher taxes on spirits and beer, and the manufacturers will offer equally vigorous opposition to any changes in the tariff that will promote the importation of competitive products from foreign countries. The situation is therefore a perplexing one. The division of sentiment in the Republican party renders it all the more perplexing. One group of leaders believe the best way out of the difficulty is a revision of the tariff so as to afford a lower range of duties. It is argued that the increase in importation will far more than counterbalance the decrease in the rates of duty, but a heavy importation of foreign goods more lightly taxed is likely to have a depressing effect on domestic manufactures.

Secretary Shaw is of the opinion that the problem can be solved by levying additional taxes on beer, spirits and tobacco and putting a small import duty on tea and coffee. He believes that the taxes will be so light and so generally distributed as to be scarcely perceptible to the public.

Had the Supreme Court not declared an income tax unconstitutional, it is probable that the deficiency in revenue would be made up, partially at least, by taxing incomes. The sentiment in favor of an income tax is rapidly growing, and it is not unlikely that the Constitution may be amended in the near future to legalize the levying of one. In the meantime Congress must devise some way out of the present difficulty.

The Sultan of Turkey gave J. Pierpont Morgan a warm reception. The Sultan is always pleased to meet men with money to loan, but he will probably not be so impressed with Mr. Morgan after he learns the latter is working the other side of the street.

It is not correct to represent Tax Collector Smith as the typical good fellow. He was only a good thing.

Negroes in the Chicago Strike.

The Colored Business Men's League of Chicago has adopted resolutions requesting colored men in the South not to come to Chicago for the purpose of taking the place of union strikers. This is a wise move. The employers of Chicago are engaged in a bitter struggle with their white union employees, and the importation of colored men from a distance to assist the employers in subduing their workmen interjects race prejudice into the labor controversy, and identifies the colored people both in and out of Chicago with a movement hostile to union labor.

It is a mistake for negroes to take part in such affairs. It only intensifies popular feeling against them. However, the colored men imported into Chicago from the South are not so much to blame as those who induced them to go there. They are mostly ignorant, and were probably deceived as to the conditions prevailing in Chicago. They were naturally tempted by the offer of high wages, not knowing that the moment the employers and the strikers come to an agreement the demand for their services will cease. In a short time, if not immediately, they will be supplanted by the very men whose places they have taken, and will be thrown out of employment with the hand of union labor against them everywhere.

When too late they will realize that they have been made the instrument of the professional strike-breaker's crusade against organized labor, and in many ways the colored people will be made to feel that they are under ban for the part taken by imported negroes in the Chicago labor troubles. Negroes have as much right to labor where and for whom they please as anybody else and are entitled to the full protection of the laws, but there are times when it is not the wisest policy to insist upon rights which can only be exercised in the face of popular antagonism and which, when exercised, bring more trouble than benefit.

Colored men would sacrifice nothing of their rights and independence by staying away from Chicago under the circumstances, and the members of the Colored Men's Business League have been quick to perceive the fact. They are not slow to realize that the appearance of imported negroes as strike-breakers makes harder the future lot of colored men in northern cities. The negro laborer is making a mistake in allowing himself to be used as a club to break the head of the white laborer.

Oakland's School Census.

It is announced that the increase in the number of children of school age in Oakland during the past year is exactly 69. Napa shows an increase of 55 and San Diego 475. Oakland has hardly kept up with Fruitvale and San Leandro, if we are to credit the school census returns. But, the showing is incredible on its face. The general growth of this city belies the census, which if incorrect is a financial damage to the community. Two years ago the census of Los Angeles showed a falling off of several thousand. Immediately the press, the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council took the matter up, with the result that a new census was taken which showed some 6,000 children in excess of the number found by the school census marshal. The first census, being official, had to stand, so far as the apportionment of school money for that year was concerned, but the second census has always been taken as the criterion of Los Angeles' scholastic population. Oakland needs a shaking up of the same sort. It is nonsense that there is only one child to every four or five new families locating here.

It is reported that the Russian fleet is going south. Well, that is better than going down.

Because John D. Rockefeller has acquired his money by wicked practices Rev. E. R. Dille says the churches should not permit it to be made the instrument of doing good. If the churches propose to sit in judgment on the morals and business methods of all who contribute to the support of religious work and organization, well and good, but until they do there is no occasion to make an example of the Standard Oil magnate. Besides, there is an old saw which fits the case exactly. "Never look a gift horse in the mouth."

Over twelve thousand immigrants were landed at the port of New York yesterday. Simultaneously with the landing of this foreign horde a mass meeting was being held in San Francisco to protest against Japanese being allowed to come to the United States. There are about 150,000 Japanese all told in this country. The principal speakers at the San Francisco meeting were O. A. Tveitmo, Andrew Furuseth, Dr. Carl Saalfeld, Isador Golden, E. I. Wolfe and Charles T. Calame. What if the Japanese were to mass meet and protest against the landing in New York of the brothers, sisters, cousins and aunts of the gentlemen who spoke so eloquently in Lyric Hall?

PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cases Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Miss Irene Crosby

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

OVERTASKING SCHOOL CHILDREN.

(Report by U. S. Consul-General Guenther, Frankfurt, Germany.)

Dr. Otto Dornbluth of Frankfurt, a specialist in nervous diseases, writes against the practice of holding afternoon sessions in the public schools. In support of his position he points to the investigations instituted among 16,000 school children by the distinguished expert in school hygiene, Dr. Schmidt-Monnard, of Halle, who found that the number of sick among the children attending morning and afternoon sessions was by one-half greater than among children who attended sessions in the forenoon only.

Dr. Dornbluth favors a morning session of five hours, giving a resting pause of fifteen minutes at the end of each hour. He says that the afternoon sessions exhaust the vitality of the children, disturb their digestive organs and tire their brains. The afternoon hours should be given to play, outdoor exercise and physical training. The selfish motives of many parents in not wishing the children at home because they are bothersome and require supervision should not avail against a reform which is necessary and beneficial for the little ones. The doctor suggests the establishment of public retreats where the children who cannot be supervised at home may spend the afternoon hours in the care of one or more suitable adults.

A GREAT DISCOVERY AT THESES.

(Harold Spender in the London Daily News.)

A few days before the diggers had been steadily shovelling away the chips, when suddenly a spade dug into vacancy, and they looked through a hole into darkness. Across the hole lay a staff with gilt tip.

"Some one has been here before us," they said, "and left his stick."

The opening grew larger with a few more thrusts of the spade, and suddenly they found a sofa-cushion crumpled and thrown down, as if in haste.

"They have left a cushion!" they cried.

But neither the stick nor the cushion had been thrown there by tourists. They had been hurriedly cast aside by frightened robbers three thousand years ago.

Nothing was touched except the gold and silver, all of which had been taken. The hole by which the robbers had escaped was blocked by chips thrown there from another tomb hewn out about 1000 B. C. The robbers therefore must have paid their visit before 1000 B. C., and they—these tired, excited, modern diggers—were the next visitors.

Since then no human foot had trodden within that vault.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist Church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I did I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which tried many remedies, without relief, until I cured my cough and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At Osgood's drug stores, Seventh and Broadway and Twelfth and Washington, the 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Highest Salaried Woman in the United States Stenographer's Rise to Fame Earns Over $20,000 a Year in Her Position.

She Holds a Position of Rare Power and Influence
By Virtue of Tact and Sheer Ability--Began as Stenographer, Mastered Many Details and Forged Steadily Ahead.

"Molasses goes a great deal further than vinegar." This is the success secret of the highest salaried woman in the United States. You may see her any day at her desk in the offices of the Equitable Life Assurance Society—this Miss Anna L. Amendt—first assistant to George E. Tarbell, the second vice-president, and leader in the fight against First Vice-President James Hazen Hyde. Her salary is $12,000 a year.

The way leads up through the marble corridor lined by bronzed rails, behind which so many hundred clerks labor day by day. A mahogany door opens, and you stand in a room which faces on Broadway. A junior clerk takes your name. If Miss Amendt so desires you may see her. It may be added that of the hundreds that come to see Mr. Tarbell of a business day, not one in ten ever gets by Miss Amendt. She can transact his business with the average caller fully as well as Mr. Tarbell himself. It is her business to relieve her chief from all the possible detail that appertains to the business of life insurance.

If you are admitted, the folding doors of mahogany will slide open before you; then you will be ushered into a room which is fully the equal of that occupied by President Alexander, or even the particular Mr. Hyde. It has fawn-colored walls picked out in gold, a cornice dome in mahogany, a parquet floor relieved by a rug of green velvet carpet, and plate glass windows.

At a great mahogany desk near the window sits Miss Amendt. It is no ordinary desk. It is perhaps ten feet long and four feet broad. The top is one solid sheet of plate glass. There are papers everywhere, but each one is in its own place. Two vases stand on the expanse of glass top—every day there are fresh flowers placed in them. Sweet peas of a tender pinkish hue and a bunch of lilies of the valley stood there yesterday.

Not a soul can get by that desk to the inner room where Mr. Tarbell is conducting his fight against Mr. Hyde, unless that soul first has the approval of Miss Amendt. Unlike Miss Katherine I. Harrison, the $10,000 secretary of H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil, Miss Amendt will see any one who has any reasonable business mission. Yet Miss Amendt is far busier as a rule and has far more mass of detail on her mind at all times than has Miss Harrison.

You enter. Before you sits a woman well along in the thirties, with the bright look of girlhood still in her face. It is a keen face—frank, honest, engaging. Above it is a wealth of fluffy brown hair, tinged at the temples with just the slightest suspicion of gray. The digure is trim; the pose alert.

You glance at the clothes of the woman whose inquiring face asks your business even before her lips can frame the question. You catch the gleam of jewels on her hands and wrist of gold at her throat and waist. Yet the attire of this woman of affairs is cut in the severest lines. It impresses you as being of expensive material and of stylish cut, and so it is.

This is the remarkable woman who has a salary of $12,000 a year and earns nearly as much more from writing insurance policies outside of business hours—the only woman in the United States who receives a regular salary of $250 a week.

From Miss Amendt the humblest caller who really has business with the Equitable will receive the same treatment as the star general agent of the Equitable.

A caller from a newspaper recently entered her office.

"What is it?" she asked.

Miss Amendt laughed when she heard the reply to her question.

Something about herself?

She laughed again. There was a knock at the door. A waiter came in with a menu in his hand.

"Je ne veux pas manger," she said, and the waiter took his dismissal, while Miss Amendt changed to plain English again, after this declaration that she was too busy to take lunch-ers sent to the guest of honor. During the reception hours from 3 to 6 o'clock, some 130 guests called, many of them from this side of the bay, where the Hamiltons formerly lived.

Mrs. Hamilton and the bride-to-be were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Noble Hamilton, Mrs. Hamilton's mother, Mrs. E. Dore, Mrs. Richard Bayne, Mrs. J. Hoffacker, Miss Hoffacker, Mrs. Charles Stetson Wheeler, Mrs. C. A. Bonilla, Mrs. Linda H. Bryan, Mrs. Hazel Marston, Miss Madge Lamrus and Miss Ida Remington.

Miss Dodge wore a most becoming pale green chiffon and Mrs. Hamilton's gown was of handsome black lace.

TWO ENGAGEMENTS.

An engagement of interest is that of Miss Ella O. Brown of this city to the Rev. Mr. Britton of Belvedere, Ill. Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brown, of Alice street, and a sister of the well-known singer, Mrs. Carrie Brown Dexter. Her fiancé is the rector of the Episcopal Church of Belvedere. Miss Brown will leave shortly for the East, where the wedding will take place May 29.

Another interesting engagement is that of Miss Sadie Morgan of Alameda to Lieutenant Walter C. Jones, U. S. A. No date has been set for the wedding.

ART EXHIBIT.

An exhibit of interest to artists and lovers of art on both sides of the bay is the exhibit which opens this morning at the new art gallery of S. and G. Gump at 113 Geary street, San Francisco. The display is a series of scenes of native life in Samoa and Hawaii by Theodore Wores, the well-known artist, and promises to be the most interesting collection seen for many months.

The exhibit opens today and will continue until Saturday, May 20; open each day from half-past nine until five o'clock.

CLUB LUNCHEON

Ebell will hold its monthly luncheon tomorrow and since it is the last of the season it will probably be one of the most elaborate of the winter series.

Mrs. Newton Koser has charge of the musical program, and among those who will contribute to its success are Mrs. Arthur Moore and Miss Haggar, who will play duets on two pianos; Miss Baldwin, who will render a violin solo, and Mrs. Gilmore will give a soprano solo.

Mrs. John Yule, the presiding hostess, will be assisted by Mrs. S. J. Taylor, Mrs. C. D. Vincent, Miss Wilkinson, Mrs. George H. Wheaton, Mrs. Welles Whitmore, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Mrs. James P. Vane, Mrs. H. R. Taylor, Mrs. J. C. Walker, Mrs. Reese B. Thompson, Miss Vandergaw, Mrs. F. B. Taylor, Mrs. H. E. Stone, Mrs. E. D. Yorker, Mrs. George W. Stark, Mrs. Louis Tashelra, Mrs. H. C. Taft, Mrs. Alfred Von der Ropp, Mrs. A. H. Ward, Mrs. Gordon M. Stoop, Mrs. E. F. Welch, Mrs. Frances Woodward, Mrs. J. E. Whitney, Mrs. W. P. Todd, Mrs. R. Whitehead, Mrs. M. Whitaker, Mrs.

soon. It is essential that any one who wants to know all about Canadian business should speak French. Miss Amendt speaks it like a true Frenchman.

"Something about myself?" mused Miss Amendt. "Why, my business life hasn't been anything extraordinary. I started in Mr. Tarbell's office in Chicago as a stenographer, and when he came here, in 1902, to be second vice-president, I was taken along with several others. That's all.

"How did I first get with the Equitable? Just as any other woman might. I lived in Logan, O., where I was born, and when my father lost his money I had to teach school to help along the family. Every night when I went to bed I hoped I wouldn't wake up in the morning—I hated it so. Finally I saved up $300 and I went to Chicago to learn stenography.

"I took the course and got my diploma. The Equitable needed a stenographer and I got the place at $15 a week. The work interested me; I took hold and finally became Mr. Tarbell's secretary and stenographer. He was general agent for the Northwestern territory then, with his headquarters in Chicago, but he was made vice-president and came to New York.

"That was twelve years ago. Our business here grew so large that other stenographers and secretaries were needed, and so I became one of the assistants to Mr. Tarbell, as I am now. For the past six or seven years I haven't done any stenographic work; now I have three or four stenographers of my own, and my own secretary, Miss Rice."

Not another word would Miss Amendt say of herself. But there were plenty around the office who told more. They attribute her amazing success—there is no other way to put it—to her wonderful tact and her ability to appreciate human nature. Time and again she has impressed upon those subordinate to her. "Molasses goes a great deal further than vinegar."

Asked about women in life insurance Miss Amendt said:

"Life insurance is the best business in which a woman can engage. The possibilities for women in life insurance are limitless. With all the women who are working at it now, and many of them making large commissions, it is still a new field, and it is utterly impossible now to tell what the developments eventually will be.

"The work opens up an entirely new life to a woman. She is absolutely independent. Best of all, she knows that she is making money. Furthermore, she lifts herself out of the rut of women's occupations in general. In life insurance a woman has the most broadening experience. She meets all classes of people; she commands respect wherever she goes. In a short time she develops entirely new faculties.

"She learns to read human nature, which is the telling part of the business. She meets many busy people. It is generally left to her to diagnose at a glance the needs of a person, just as a physician prescribes for a patient. She must know just what kind of insurance a client needs, and she must be able in a moment to suggest the most profitable form for his or her investment.

"No longer is she tied down to office work. She comes and goes as she pleases. Her hours are those that she chooses to make. Of course, the work is on commission; it depends on the girl herself as to the size of her income, and I have in mind now many women whose incomes from their insurance business could hardly be believed.

"As soon as a woman secures her contract she is immediately put with some one who understands the insurance business thoroughly to be coached and trained as a full-fledged worker. There is much for her to learn in the insurance business, and one could work at it for years and yet learn something new every day, yet an ordinarily intelligent woman can start right in and earn money from the first week. For her own benefit I should advise any girl or woman whose circumstances have compelled her to be a bread-winner to grasp these excellent opportunities presented by life insurance.

"It will only take her a short time to see if she is personally fitted for the work, and if so she will make money, which is the natural ambition of every woman who goes into business to support herself. Besides she will have plenty of outdoor life, which is a thing to be desired, for women tire of being tied to a desk in an office. If women only knew it, life insurance is the opportunity of a lifetime."

This highest-salaried woman is not at all masculine. On the contrary, she likes well-made clothes and becoming ones, and she always appears in them. Too, three rings may be seen at any time on her fingers. One is a hoop of big diamonds, a second is a turquoise set between two diamonds, and the third is a hoop of pearls. She habitually wears a gold chain about her neck which reaches to her waist. Her home is artistic and most tastefully furnished.

MISS ANNIE AMENDT

"I have always been a believer in women devoting their best energies to some kind of profit. It should be the ambition of every woman who must support herself. If ever I see a girl struggling along on a small salary I am only too anxious to inspire her enthusiasm toward taking up the work, for it not only broadens her life, but gives her an ample income.

"No longer is she tied down to office work. She comes and goes as she pleases. Her hours are those that she chooses to make. Of course, the work is on commission; it depends on the girl herself as to the size of her income, and I have in mind now many women whose incomes from their insurance business could hardly be believed.

A DAY'S NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS

HALE STUDENTS BEFORE "CRACKS" AT NANCE AND OTHER FACULTY MEN.

Youths Arrested on Campus Answer Charges of Officers—Anger at University Over the Episode.

BERKELEY, May 8.—There is intense indignation at the University among the students because E. Peterson, a senior, and T. W. Parker, an employee of the firm of Thomas Collins & Sons, San Francisco, were arrested Saturday afternoon on the campus and charged with disturbing the peace. They appeared in Justice Edger's court today for trial.

Special Officer Knapp of the University police had ordered the crowd off the baseball bleachers which overlooked the Pacific Athletic Association field meet, when shortly afterwards Peterson ascended the bleachers. Knapp immediately ordered him off. When Peterson came down Parker, who was one of the crowd first ordered off, went up to him and the two began to discuss the right of Knapp to take such action.

L. B. Bolton, superintendent of the grounds, then came to the scene and took hold of Parker to arrest him. Both Parker and Peterson demanded from Bolton his authority. Bolton then threatened to handcuff Parker, but did not on account of the crowd who placed both under arrest. As the two prisoners were walking peacefully up to Superintendent Bolton's office Knapp, the special officer, drew a revolver and threatened to shoot them if they moved a muscle. Parker and Peterson remained at Bolton's office two hours. They were then taken to the Town Marshal's office and charged with disturbing the peace. They were released on bail.

The University policemen are scored by the student daily, the Californian, which today says editorially:

UNIVERSITY POLICE. The force allowed to wear stars and given all the authority of ordinary special officers, ought to be subject to the same tests of competency and the same restrictions. This abuse reached its climax Saturday, when Captain Bolton and one of his trusty guards arrested two men who had dared question the authority of the guard in ordering people off the baseball bleachers in the middle of the afternoon and marched the criminals in solemn procession to Captain Bolton's office, the trusty guard bringing up the rear in true military style and threatening to "shoot the first man who moved a muscle." This sort of melodramatic foolishness has been tolerated long enough. It is now time to realize that such a state of affairs is a public danger. The entire police force of the University is in need of reorganization, and the only way to reorganize it is by taking away the stars of incompetent policemen and granting them to men who can satisfy the requirements set by any careful Board of Police Commissioners.

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

"S. S. S. for the blood" has grown to be a household saying. When the blood is out of order, or needs treatment from any cause, this great remedy is the first thought of and used by thousands of people all over the country, because it is superior to all other blood purifiers. It is a purely vegetable remedy, and while it penetrates the circulation and forces out all poison and morbid matter, it also builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. During the winter months the natural avenues of bodily waste have become dull and weak and failed to perform their full duty, the blood has been sluggish and an extra amount of poisons and waste matters have accumulated in the system and been absorbed by it. With the coming of Spring and warm weather the blood is aroused and stirred to quicker action and in its effort to throw off these acids and poisons the skin suffers. Boils, pimples, blotches, rashes and eruptions break out and continue until the blood is cleansed and made pure. S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this condition; it clears the blood of all impurities, makes it rich and strong and these skin troubles pass away. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other diseases of the blood are cured by S. S. S. "Book on the blood and any advice desired, free of charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

I was suffering from impure blood and a general run-down condition of the system. My appetite, was losing flesh, and an all-gone tired feeling that made me miserable. I began the use of S. S. S. and my blood was restored to its normal, healthy condition. My appetite returned, I increased in weight, that "fired feeling" left and I was again myself.

Senior's Extravaganza to Have "Hits" That Will Be Genuinely Good—Plans for the Event.

W. H. DEHM, PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS, WHO HAS A PROMINENT PART IN THE SENIOR EXTRAVAGANZA.

BERKELEY, May 8.—Nothing so gorgeous or attractive as a spectacle has ever been conceived by the brilliant youths or maidens at the University as that which the senior class this year proposes to put forth as its annual extravaganza, on May 15, in the Greek Theater on the campus.

Instead of having the big extravaganza in the afternoon, as has been done heretofore, the seniors decided to give the show at night. This will permit of elaborate electrical effects, calculated to literally make the stars of the piece shine before the vast crowd that is sure to fill the immense amphitheater to overflowing. A professional coach has drilled the men and women seniors and a professional dancing master has taught the chorus the evolutions it will perform. Rehearsals are being held daily and these will be continued up to the day of the production.

"The Royal Way" is the title of the extravaganza. Its authors are Joseph Loeb, editor of the Daily Californian, at the University; Gus Kane, associate editor of the Occident, and Bert Campello, a prominent senior.

University instructors and students are being induced to attend the extravaganza. Professor Setchell of the students' affairs committee and Captain J. T. Nance, de-

FIRE PROTECTION WANTED

FRUITVALE RESIDENTS DESIRE TO FORM A LARGE DEPARTMENT.

FRUITVALE, May 8.—Fire protection is being discussed by the residents here with considerable interest. They believe that there is no adequate department and are desirous of having the present company reorganized.

The people of Alameda and other outlying parts of the town want to get into the district, and it is probable that a petition will soon be gotten up to have the Supervisors enlarge the Fruitvale fire district to take in Alameda, Melrose, Laurel Grove and Westall.

If this should be done it is thought that the taxes might be voted by the property owners to keep up the equipment and pay the water rent.

At present there are only three hydrants in Fruitvale where the department can get water when necessary.

If the proposed tract is added to the district the tax will be very reasonable for each property owner, much less than if the whole burden were borne by the residents of the present district. It is anticipated that the rates of fire insurance would decrease from their present amount, over $2 a year per $100, to less than $1.

A four inch main is being laid through Alameda by the Contra Costa Water Company, and the residents there think this a favorable time to have several hydrants put up and connected.

SENT TO HOSPITAL.
Charles Schullis, aged 25 years, was sent to the County Infirmary yesterday by Judge Ogden of the Superior Court. He had been found on Thursday by Constable Carroll wandering around Fruitvale. He is suffering from a skin eruption and doubts are entertained as to his sanity.

BOARD MEETS.
At the meeting of the Sanitary Board of Fruitvale last Thursday W. G. Thornally reported to have inspected nine new buildings and collected $18 in fees, which he turned over to the board.

An ordinance dealing with delinquent taxes was adopted and ordered printed. Emilie Thornton and May and Edward Stanley applied for permission to connect their property with the sewer on Paralta avenue. The request was granted.

The owners of property on Redwood avenue, which is connected with the sewer on Tobler street, were notified to connect with the sanitary sewer on Redwood avenue.

The Sanitary Board will sit as a Board of Equalization, commencing with the first Monday in June.

PERSONAL ITEMS.
W. Kapp and U. A. Lewis, who were appointed a committee to see the owners of the Schaefer tract to secure right of way for Hopkins street, went to San Francisco last Monday and interviewed the agents for said tract, Woodward & Co. The agents stated that they would correspond with the owner, but thought that there would be no objection to granting the land, as it would greatly improve the Schaefer tract.

The officers of the Fruitvale Cadet Corps of the Congregational Church are to give an entertainment in Washington Hall, 307 Twelfth street, East Oakland, Saturday evening, May 20.

TASTE OF "VARIETY" Berkeley to Have Vaudeville Shows in Theater to Be Erected.

BERKELEY, May 8.—A new theater is to be established in Berkeley. Shattuck Hall, which for many years has served as Berkeley's theater for amateur performances, is shortly to be converted into a real playhouse, where the vaudeville shows will be given. The new theater will be erected on the site of the old one, which was recently opened a vaudeville theater in Alameda, has secured a five-year lease on the hall, and on May 15 will open the new playhouse.

The work of remodeling the interior of Shattuck Hall has been started. The hall will be fitted out in a manner similar to the vaudeville theaters in Oakland. The stage, which is larger than any in the Oakland theaters of that character, will undergo little or no alterations, other than the general overhauling and redecoration of the stage settings with new curtains and scenery. The place will be supplied with opera chairs, ornate and decorated and other improvements made.

EXPERTS VISIT THE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Galloway is in California with the aim of securing greater co-operation between the agricultural experiment stations of the State and the Federal station.

Dr. Evans merely stopped at the University while on his way to Hawaii, where he will make an extended tour of investigation through the island. He will visit the California stations on his return.

SEARCHING FOR BODY OF HIS LOST SON.

Editor George Weeks Dragging the Feather River Where the Boat Capsized.

ALAMEDA, May 8.—In the wilds of Butte county George F. Weeks, editor and proprietor of the Daily Emancipator, is still carrying on an unwitting, though so far unavailing, search for the body of his son, Rufus W. Weeks, who was drowned last week in the north fork of the Feather river, not far from the village of Stirling, while out with a surveying party.

The river is being dragged for the remains, and unusual means employed in the sad quest. The young man was trying to cross the river, which was swollen by the winter rains, above a low line, when he lost his life.

The swift current swept his row boat against the line, when it capsized instantly, casting Mr. Weeks into the seething torrent. Friends on the further bank sprang to cut the line, but their efforts came too late. Mr. Weeks was within fifty feet of the bank when his boat upset. He endeavored to swim to the shore, but after taking a few strokes, sank, never to rise again.

At the point where the fatal accident occurred the Feather forms a deep, wide and long pool. The water is from thirty to forty feet in depth, while the pool is several hundred feet in width and length. The current is swift, and watchers are patrolling the rapids below the pool to see that the body is not carried down stream.

In a letter to relatives here Editor Weeks writes that the search is still being prosecuted, and that all possible means will be tried. When he wrote it was planned to stretch wire netting across the river some miles below the pool, when dynamite was to be exploded under water in an effort to raise the body. Indeed, have been employed to watch the netting day and night. The water is very cold. For this reason it is believed that the body is still at the bottom of the river, and probably not far from the scene of the accident.

SILVER WEDDING.
ALAMEDA, May 8.—Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Halpruner celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last Thursday evening at their home, 1381 Pacific avenue, when a number of guests were entertained very pleasantly.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Helling and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wyndham, Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Anderson, Captain and Mrs. Bertelsen, Misses Alice and Jewel McNevin, Herbert R. Goudy, Mrs. M. A. Shelton, Mrs. S. Kellner, Charles Helling, Mrs. Belle Hansen, Captain and Mrs. George Tait, Miss Beattie Tait, Charles Tait, Miss Grace McNevin, Mrs. M. Martenson, Lucian Silar, Miss Silar, Mr. and Mrs. A. Halpruner, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Halpruner.

The wedding ceremony performed twenty-five years ago was repeated in remembrance of the event at 9 p. m., and many were the congratulations offered. Dr. and Mrs. Halpruner were the recipients of some handsome and valuable gifts.

A supper, at which an ample supply of viands for the inner man had been provided, was served the guests. The tables were decorated to represent the six anniversaries—pearls, wood, tin, china, crystal, etc., and were illuminated with twenty-five anniversary candles. During the evening vocal and instrumental music was rendered.

A NOVEL SERMON.
ALAMEDA, May 8.—Rev. P. C. Macfarlane, pastor of the First Christian Church, delivered a novel sermon yesterday in the form of an original story, entitled, "A Three Year Old Deadening," the scene of which is laid in the pine forests of northern Florida, where the author lived for a time. Rev. Mr. Macfarlane, before he entered his solemn career as a minister of the Gospel, was a newspaper man and writer of fiction for periodicals. He stated, in announcing his theme, that while the story was written some years ago, while he was engaged in short story writing, and before he had definite thought of the ministry as a life work, that a recent perusal of the manuscript had revealed a sermon therein, dealing with some of the most important facts of present day life.

WHIST PARTY.
ALAMEDA, May 8.—One of the very enjoyable and successful affairs which have recently been given here was the whist party at the Miraph Society in Woodmen Hall last Friday evening. The section managers, who also acted as scorers, were: Miss Marie Stoll, Miss Irene Welp, Miss Sophie Brandes and Miss Mary Branth. The reception committee was composed of F. Killinger, A. E. Brandes and Edward Norton. Twenty hands were played, the prizes, with the scores made, being as follows:

C. McConnell, 137.

"SWEATING THE PRISONER."
ALAMEDA, May 8.—It is believed by the police that C. D. Lowrie, the ex-convict arrested for the burglary at the residence of A. R. Fritsch, where loot to the amount of over $100 in cash and jewelry was secured, may be an accomplice instead of a principal in the crime. An effort is being made, under the "sweating" process, to secure important admissions from the prisoner. His preliminary hearing is to take place before Judge Cone at 2 p. m. on the 9th inst.

PERSONAL NOTES.
ALAMEDA, May 8.—Miss Amy Swayne has recovered her health after a long illness.

LAST TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO WM. B. BARBER.

Affecting Obsequies of the Son of the County Tax Collector in Alameda Yesterday.

The funeral of the late William Burton Barber, only son of County Tax Collector and Mrs. J. B. Barber, took place from the family home, 1421 High street, Alameda, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It was attended by many relatives and friends, all of whom were inspired with deepest sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Barber, because of the irreparable loss they had sustained in the demise of their only child.

The remains lay in a white casket in the parlor, surrounded by clusters of beautiful and fragrant flowers which told of the esteem in which the deceased was held by those who knew him.

A feature which intensified the sadness of the ceremony was the formal farewell taken of the deceased by a number of boys who had been comrades of the deceased in life, and served with and under him in the company of the Boys' Brigade of the Presbyterian Church, Alameda. The representatives of the company appeared in the uniform of the organization, as did also a number of the boys of the Alameda Hospital Corps, attached to Christ Episcopal Church, Alameda.

The services were conducted by Rev. F. S. Brush, of the First Presbyterian Church, Alameda, who read the solemn psalms of the funeral exercises of that church, at intervals vocal selections being rendered by personal friends of the deceased.

J. E. BAKER'S ADDRESS.

Rev. Mr. Brush announced that J. E. Baker, president of the Boys' Brigade, would tell of the connection of the deceased with that organization. Among other things, Mr. Baker said: "My acquaintance with Will Barber dates from 1892, when he was twelve years old. On September of that year he joined the Boys' Brigade, an organization of which I was president.

"Upon joining, he took the following pledge, which all take upon becoming members:

"I solemnly promise that, so long as I am a member of the Boys' Brigade, I will not use intoxicating liquor, nor tobacco, nor profane or vulgar language, and I will try to set an example of good conduct before the other boys."

"We all know that, during the thirteen years of his connection with the brigade, and until his death, he faithfully kept this pledge, and, during the sixteen years of the existence of the organization, among the hundreds of boys who have been members, very rarely have any of them broken the pledge. More than that, nearly all live up to its principles, particularly in abstaining from intoxicating liquor, ever afterwards."

PROMOTION.

"The pledge tides the boys over the dangerous period of their lives when their judgment is not matured. Will Barber, by his faithfulness, gradually received promotion, until, in May, 1898, he was placed in command of the company and remained captain until his death, a period of about seven years."

"He had remarked that it was difficult for him to fill the position, as his own age was so near that of the boys, and he was necessarily on terms of great familiarity with them. He feared he could not command the necessary respect, but he did succeed admirably, and developed excellent judgment and self-control, so that he managed them most successfully under these difficult circumstances."

FAITHFULNESS.

"He was faithful in his attendance at the weekly Bible class held in connection with the brigade. He not only listened attentively to the precepts and duties put forth, but, better still, put them into immediate practice in his daily life, so that his was essentially a Christian character. His sterling worth must be a great consolation to his parents in their sad bereavement, when so many boys and young men cause their parents much suffering by their bad conduct."

EFFECT OF EXAMPLE.

"His example in faithfulness to duty should be an inspiration to his comrades here present, inducing them to copy his excellent character."

"In Mountain View cemetery there is a monument erected to the memory of a man who received the highest honor the State of California could bestow, that of Governor. The inscription upon the monument consists of four words, 'In All Things Faithful.'"

COLLISION ON ELEVATED

NEW YORK, May 8.—Six passengers have been hurt, none seriously, by a collision between two southbound Third Avenue elevated railroad trains today at the 123d street station. The first train had stopped just south of the station, being held up by the opening of the drawbridge over the Harlem river, when the second train crashed into it.

Those hurt were all in the second train. The passengers who intended to get out at the station had arisen from their seats and were standing in the aisles and on the platform. The shock threw them to the floor of the cars.

COUNTY OF BERKELEY IS ONLY A DREAM.

Improvement Club Told By Attorney That State Constitution Stands in Way of Project.

BERKELEY, May 8.—At the last meeting of the Upland Improvement Club in the assembly hall of the Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind the committee appointed to consult with the East Side Improvement Club in regard to fixing the boundary line between the two clubs reported that the boundary limit of the East Side Improvement Club would extend to the northern side of Parker street and the easterly side of College avenue, while the Upland Club would embrace all the territory east of College avenue northerly to the University grounds and southerly to the southerly line of Berkeley.

Professor Clifton Price presented a petition addressed to the Postmaster of Berkeley from the residents east of Warring street to have a mail box on Bancroft way and Warring street, and asked to have the club endorse the same, which was done. He also presented a petition addressed to the Board of Town Trustees to have a street thirty feet wide opened from the end of Bancroft way to Prospect avenue for the accommodation of those people who reside in that vicinity. The club agreed to sign the petition after it had been signed by the residents in that district.

Professor Lewis of the committee appointed to present a resolution to the School Board of Trustees, stating that the lot bought for school purposes on the corner of Derby and Piedmont avenue being in an ideal shape, it was desirable to have the lot remaining unpurchased at reasonable rates if it could be done, so as to make the school lot of more desirable dimensions.

It was the intention, he thought, of the School Board ultimately to purchase this piece of ground, as after the schoolhouse was built, this lot, being surrounded by the school lot, would be undesirable for any other purpose.

Brevton Hayne, speaking on charter revision, said it was necessary for the club to state what particular provisions the club thought was essential to have amended. On motion the committee already appointed in this matter was instructed to propose at the next meeting of the club, on June 1, 1905, what amendments were, in its judgment, necessary and essential to be made in the charter.

Discussion arose in regard to the new county of Berkeley, and it was ascertained that the Constitution of the State prohibited a new county being organized five miles from the boundary line of the county seat of another county, so that Berkeley being less than five miles from the boundary line of Oakland, which is the county seat of Alameda county, it was not permitted under the Constitution to have a new county of Berkeley.

The meeting adjourned to meet in the assembly hall of the Institution of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind on June 1, 1905.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS CONDEMNATING CALIFORNIA CO-OPERATIVE MEAT COMPANY.

The following communication has been received by the TRIBUNE:

"San Francisco, May 3, 1905.—Whereas, a number of professional promoters, who in the past have engaged in numerous enterprises and failed every time, and who now sail under the guise of trade unionists and co-operators, have sent out a number of circulars relative to the election of a board of directors for the California Co-Operative Meat Company, containing lying statements, reflecting upon the honesty and integrity of well known trade unionists in this city, State and United States, trying to connect their names with the Meat Trust and the Citizens' Alliance; and

"Whereas, We believe in the right and privilege of all members of such companies to run for any office they see fit; and

"Whereas, We believe in free speech, free press, and the rights of all American citizens to watch and criticize public and other officials at any and all times, irrespective of the opinions, notions, fads and isms of individuals; therefore, be it

PASSENGERS INJURED IN AN ACCIDENT

CHICAGO, May 8.—In an accident on the Elgin and Chicago third rail electric line near Wayne, six miles south of Elgin, one man has been fatally injured, two were seriously hurt, and a score of passengers were badly bruised and shaken.

William Murphy, a professional baseball pitcher, is the most seriously injured. He may not survive. The motorcar received serious injuries in jumping. The two coaches on the third rail line were speeding along towards Chicago at a rate of forty miles an hour. Near Wayne there is a side track leading from the third rail road to the Illinois Central Railroad. Several freight cars were on the side tracks and the switch from the main line had not been turned.

The electric cars went through this switch, telescoping one of the freight cars and crashing into another. The entire front end of the Chicago-bound car was crumpled inward and the flying timbers went crashing into the load of passengers.
